Village Part of Senior Hunger Initiative

The Village's Fred Luna Multigenerational Center has been selected to participate in the Senior Hunger Initiative Program for calendar years 2015 through 2017.

The program is part of the Roadrunner Food Bank of New Mexico which has served New Mexico's hungry since 1980.

The food bank's senior hunger initiative distributes food through a network of hundreds of agencies in the state where seniors seek help with food.

Nearly 30% of the people who need help with food every year are seniors.

For information about the Los Lunas program call Renee Benavidez at the Fred Luna Center, 505 352-7667.

Fire Marshal Inspects Village Businesses

Fighting fires is an immediate vision when talking about the Los Lunas Fire Department. Another safety area is making sure businesses and residences are safe.

Los Lunas Fire Marshal Jason Gonzales inspects businesses and homes in the Village.

Los Lunas Municipal Code Chapter 2.14.030 creates a fire inspector position and describes the duties.

Marshal Gonzales says his job as inspector is to keep businesses operating without an interruption caused by some sort of calamity.

The Village enforces Industrial Fire Code 2003, which is what the State of New Mexico enforces, points out Gonzales.

Gonzales inspects industrial type of businesses yearly and others on an every two-year basis.

Homes are not inspected on a regular basis, but Gonzales said he will look at them to be sure people are safe.

The Village enforces Industrial Fire Code 2003, which is what the State of New Mexico enforces, points out Gonzales.

He drives a truck with distinctive Village Fire Department markings and wears a uniform.

Call the fire department 505 866-2116, with any questions.
